Due to the intense media coverage over the past week about a supposedly "new" forensic study on the Shroud which declared it a "fake," I thought I would publish the statement I have been sending out via e-mail to those who wrote to me about it. It is somewhat longer than my usual posts here, but I think it needs to be said publicly. Here it is:

This is not a new paper but just an updated version of a 2014 paper and should not be taken seriously. The co-author, Garlaschelli, is an avowed atheist and skeptic funded by an atheist organization in Italy (affiliated with the CSICOP group in the U.S.) and has been a vocal skeptic of the Shroud for the last ten years. He and his co-author completely ignore all of the science published in peer-reviewed journals that is based on direct examination and chemical analyses of the bloodstains on the Shroud, obviously because it disputes their conclusions. See the work of Heller, Adler, Zugibe and Bucklin, to name a few. Adler was a world renowned blood chemist and Bucklin and Zugibe were both expert forensic pathologists. None of them had an agenda like Garlaschelli does (and Adler was Jewish)!

Adler's chemistry proved the blood was actually blood. Zugibe spent over 50 years studying the Shroud, the bloodstains and the effects of crucifixion on the human body and published his results in his book, "The Crucifixion of Jesus, A Forensic Inquiry." Bucklin was a member of the STURP team and a very experienced forensic pathologist who the television program "Quincy" was based on. In fact, Bucklin was an advisor to the program's producers. Their combined experience and expertise far outweighs this one man that Garlaschelli found to support his skepticism based mostly on second hand information and a poorly conducted experiment.

The good news is that ALL of the STURP papers will soon be published on Shroud.com in our next update on October 8, 2018 (40 years to the day after we started our examination in 1978). That will allow everyone access to the papers that dispute these claims. In the meantime, you can find a whole collection of Adler's relevant papers in a Special Issue of Shroud Spectrum International on Shroud.com at this link: <http://www.shroud.com/spectrum.htm#special>.

P.S. Here is a link to a new interview with Emanuela Marinelli and her comments on this latest news:

<http://catholicphilly.com/.../shroud-of-turin-expert-critici.../>

A causa dell'intensa copertura mediatica nell'ultima settimana circa un sedicente "nuovo" Studio Forense sulla Sindone che lo ha dichiarato un "Falso," ho pensato di pubblicare la dichiarazione che ho inviato via e-mail a chi ha scritto A me a riguardo. È un po' più lungo dei miei soliti post qui, ma credo che debba essere detto pubblicamente. Ecco qui:

Questa non è una nuova carta ma solo una versione aggiornata di una

I am happy to report that our long overdue Spring/Summer website update is now online! This year marks the 40th anniversary of the STURP team's examination of the Shroud on October 8-13, 1978. In commemoration of that historic event, we are celebrating the anniversary year with some special STURP materials in each of our updates and today's is no exception. This is a big one so dig in and enjoy!

Sorry for the long silence. I returned from Italy and, after digging through nearly 2000 e-mails, have been working on the next website update ever since. There is a huge backlog of information to include so this will be a big one. It will go online on June 21st, six months since the last update (and the longest the site has ever gone without one). See you on the 21st!

May 7 through May 17, 2018 - I will again be teaching my Shroud of Turin course in the Masters of Science and Faith program at the Ateneo Pontificio Regina Apostolorum in Rome. I had hoped to have the website updated before I left for Italy, but because of a major computer crash in January and a very busy travel and lecture schedule this year, the next update won't go online until around June 1st (or later). See you then!

STERA, Inc. I believe the course is available online but one has to register (and pay a fee) to take it. It is a 24 lecture course in the Masters program of the university. You can visit the Science and Faith Institute website for more information or to register for the new Postgraduate Certificate in Shroud Studies. Here's the link:

Kathy Rheinfrank Are you ever going to come to the Cincinnati , Ohio area? They found I am the Lamb on his eye . Is this true? Did you feel anything when you were in the presence of the Shroud?

Mi piace · Rispondi · Visualizza traduzione · 13 s

STERA, Inc. I was in Cincinnati in March, 2017 and would be happy to come back again if invited. I never heard anyone mention finding such an inscription on the eyes, but people have claimed to find all kinds of things on the Shroud that probably aren't there. I think each researcher had his own personal experience in the presence of the Shroud.
